Overview

Do you have skills and experience in mediation and dispute resolution? Do you have a passion for working with families in distress? Do you want to make a difference?

Our Graduate Diploma in Family Dispute Resolution is your path to a rewarding and worthwhile career as a Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner (FDRP). Your knowledge and skills will qualify you to register as an FDRP with the Federal Attorney General, and equip you to provide specialist advice and support to families struggling to manage disputes. Your specialist expertise will include asset and debt identification, property settlements, parenting agreements, and child wellbeing.

If you already work in law, psychology, social work, mediation or related areas, this qualification will allow you to extend your professional practice and specialise in family dispute resolution.

You will learn from some of Australia's leading practitioners, in a course based on over 60 years of frontline family services work by Relationships Australia.

Our blended learning options provide the flexibility you need to balance study with your other commitments.

Our knowledge, experience and reputation will ensure you graduate ready to secure employment in this important and challenging field.

Learning Outcomes

This course will equip you with the skills to help couples and families satisfactorily resolve their disputes. You will be able to:

- understand and apply the principles of non-adversarial, child inclusive, family dispute resolution
- understand and apply the legal principles underpinning family mediation
- help separating parties resolve disputes about the wellbeing and care of children
- help separating parties identify assets and debts and decide how they will be shared
- recognise and respond to evidence of family violence, parenting stress, mental health issues and child harm.

Graduates are eligible to register with the Federal Attorney General to provide Family Dispute Resolution services to clients in Australia.

Students will have access, at no charge, to the following online programs:

- AVERT Family Violence Basics
- AVERT Family Violence Screening and Safety Planning
- AVERT Family Violence Responding to Perpetrators of Family Violence \(value \$55\)
- Family DOORS Online Training Program \(value \$175\)
- Child Focused Practice Online
- Working with Seniors – Safeguarding their Interests \(value \$75\)
- Property Law and Practice Skills for Mediators \(value \$500\)

Entry Requirements

Successful candidates will meet one of the following requirements:

- Undergraduate degree or higher qualification in psychology, social work, law, conflict management, dispute resolution, family law mediation or equivalent
- Accreditation under the National Mediator Accreditation System (NMAS)
- Satisfactory completion of the mediation skill set from the Community Services Training Package (CHC)
- Relevant work experience. This is likely to be in a dispute resolution environment in a position requiring self-directed application of knowledge, exercise of independent judgement and decision-making, and relevant technical skills.

All applicants are required to undertake a suitability interview with the course coordinator.

Employment Opportunities

Graduates will be qualified to work in a variety of community sector practitioner and management roles including:

- Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner (FDRP)
